

MANUEL CUENCA ESTRELLA is Deputy General Director of the Instituto de Salud Carlos III. He is the former Director of the Spanish National Center for Microbiology (2011-2015) and the Scientific Director of the Spanish Reference Laboratory of Medical Mycology (2009-2011).

Prof. Cuenca-Estrella received his medical degree from Complutense University of Madrid, Spain and completed an internship in clinical microbiology and a residency at Fundación Jiménez Díaz of Madrid. He received his doctor of philosophy degree in microbiology in 1,999. Additionally, Dr Cuenca-Estrella is an Expert of Probabilistic and Statistic Medicine from Complutense University of Madrid, Spain, and holds masters in business administration and public administration.

He is widely published in the field of medical mycology with more than 300 original research and review articles on the pathogenesis, diagnosis, epidemiology, and treatment of fungal infections. He is the author of many book chapters and has extensive editorial experience as reviewer for top-reviewed journals. He has served as a consultant and/or an experimental contractor for more than 10 pharmaceutical companies.

Dr. Cuenca-Estrella is a member of several international associations, an ESCMID fellow, and is a regular speaker at international meetings on aspects of fungal infections. He is the former Chairman of European Fungal Infections Study Group of the European Society of Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases (EFISG-ESCMID), former member of the Steering Committee of the Antifungal Subcommittee of Antifungal Susceptibility Testing of the European Committee of Antimicrobial Susceptibility Testing (AFST-EUCAST), an advisor of the Organización Panamericana de la Salud on the Red de Vigilancia de la Aparición de Resistencias a los Antifúngicos en Iberoamérica, former President of the Study Group of Medical Mycology of the Spanish Society of Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases, and a professor of Clinical Mycology for several PhD programs on Microbiology of the Complutense and Autonoma Universities in Madrid, Spain.

Contact information:

Prof. Manuel Cuenca Estrella, MD, PhD, FESCMID

Instituto de Salud Carlos III
Ctra. Majadahonda-Pozuelo Km 2
Majadahonda, Madrid 28220
Phone: +34 91 8223726

E-mail: mcuenca-estrella@isciii.es