Zoonotic influenza

September 2015, Vol. 64(38), p. 1008–1018

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.

Public health recommendations

Due to the continuing risk of highly pathogenic avian influenza strains, the public health recommendations are based on recommendations from the previous year.

1. Public health recommendations should be reviewed regularly and adapted as necessary.
2. Public health recommendations should be adapted to local circumstances.
3. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.
4. Public health recommendations should be adapted to the local situation.